

The minimal rendering extends to filters – only exactly the pixels which will change are calculated when the scene is altered.